

WHEAT HOARDED TWENTY YEARS

Savings of the Late Mrs. Jane M. Carrington Young Are Taken From Tin Vessels.

FOLLOWED OUT PROPHECY

AGED WOMAN WAS PREPARING FOR FAMINE.

Councilman Arthur F. Barnes is displaying for sale a choice quality of wheat, some of which is twenty years old. He is not demanding fancy prices for the cereal. In this he is not in harmony with the wishes of the original owner, who prized this far above ordinary wheat. At the same time there is a little story back of it.

Mrs. Jane M. Carrington Young, widow of the late Apostle Brigham Young, Jr., died about a month ago. Among her worldly effects was found a large quantity of wheat. It was stored in old tin powder cans, old lard cans, old milk cans, old wash boilers and other antiquated tin vessels that had seen their best days long before the last financial panic.

Shelves in the cellar of the old home, 20 West North Temple, were found to be crowded with these old vessels, all full to the brim with a fine quality of wheat. Tin vessels were used to guard against the depredations of mice, and lime was sprinkled over the top to guard against weevils.

Followed a Prophecy.

At first blush it might seem that the good woman who had accumulated all this grain was a miser, and that her penchant ran to wheat rather than to gold. This is not true. Years ago President Brigham Young insisted on the saving of wheat by the women of Zion. This was for the rainy day. As the result of this teaching of the leader many of the older women of the Mormon church got into the way of saving wheat.

Mrs. Young had been through two famines. She passed through the trials of Nauvoo and came to Utah in 1848. Her life here was not a bed of roses in the early days when the settlers were trying to wring an existence from the desert. It was an easy matter for her to get into the way of saving. It became a part of her life work. The wheat now on exhibition has been accumulating for twenty or thirty years. When Mrs. Young felt the end approaching she willed her savings of wheat to the Relief society of her church. It was sold by this organization to Mr. Barnes, who will in turn dispose of it in the ordinary run of business.

Saving Wheat Old Custom.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that this saving of wheat is a settled policy of the older members of the Relief society. They have been looking forward to a time of famine for many years. A considerable saving is effected in this way. Wheat is saved in considerable quantities by the frugal members of the society. When a sufficient quantity is gathered in this way it is brought together and sold. The proceeds are devoted to charitable work. Then the saving begins again. Only the best of grain is saved in this way.

Card of Thanks.

The family of the late G. W. Mower wishes to thank their many friends and relatives and also the A. O. U. W. lodge for the kindness shown them during their bereavement, and also for the grand floral offerings.

JUDGE KING IN THE TABERNACLE

He Delivers New Year's Address and Pleads for More Religious Spirit.

MISSION OF MORMONISM

SAYS POLITICAL MISTAKE WAS MADE IN UTAH LAST YEAR.

Judge W. H. King delivered a New Year's address in the tabernacle yesterday afternoon to a large crowd. He was the only speaker of the day. President John R. Winder presided. Prayer was offered by Elder George R. Emery and the benediction was pronounced by Apostle Rudger Clawson. Judge King began by saying that the world had made progress in the past year. The nation, he pointed out, is at peace with all the world, and there had been a decided improvement shown in the moral tendency of the people as evidenced by the defeat of bosses, the crushing of improper ideas of government, and the widespread revolt against graft.

The coming year, he predicted, will witness better municipal government all over the country. The signs of the time, he said, were favorable to government administered in an honest, upright and economical manner, not "a government by bosses or by any political party, but a government of the people, by the people and for the people."

Condemns Public Apathy.

Judge King strongly condemned the apathy of citizens toward public affairs. He likewise condemned extreme partisanship. "Every year," he said, "we see men led to the polls by bosses to cast their votes for something which, in their hearts, they know is wrong, but to which they submit for the sake of party regularity."

The result of this condition, the speaker said, was to be seen in large cities, where franchises had been given away for nothing, where taxes had been increased, and where all manner of public corruption was fostered.

"Good government can exist," he said, "only where the people themselves are honest. Good government is not a government of one man or set of men. It rests upon the people themselves—upon what Abraham Lincoln called 'the common people.'"

Judge King said that good government could come only as a result of liberty. He said the people should be taught the principles enunciated in the declaration of independence and the constitution of the United States.

Peace in the Orient.

The speaker referred to the fact that President Roosevelt had been instrumental in restoring peace between Japan and Russia, and said it was a matter for world-wide congratulation. He referred to present chaotic conditions in Russia, and said that a new and strong nation would rise after the present season of sanguinary conflicts is over. The Russian people, he declared, possess great latent power, and would yet leave their mark on the history of the world to a degree greater than ever before.

The past year, said Judge King, has been one in which there has been a tendency to break down the artificial barriers between nations. The brotherhood of all mankind, he declared, was becoming more and more recognized. The new year, he predicted, would witness much greater progress in extending the fraternal feeling between nations and peoples, and its close would witness more liberty, more fellowship, more love and more affection.

"Mistakes in Utah."

Referring to the past year in the history of Utah, Judge King said: "On the whole we have made progress—certainly progress in the industrial way. Our great mining industry has been developed more than in preceding years. There is a spirit of buoyancy among our business men. Politically some mistakes have been made here in the past year, as they have elsewhere. The coming year, in my opinion, however, will witness the obliteration of some of the errors which now apparently divide our people, and we will have here in Utah a united people, working for the upbuilding and development of the state."

Religion the True Basis.

Judge King said that greatness does not consist of mere wealth. Rather, he said, it consists of sterling character, based on true religion. Men, he said, must have great ideals, but even these will prove as apples of Sodom unless they have to do with the future life as well as with this.

In developing and building up Utah, the speaker declared, care must be taken that the religious basis is not lost.

SIN'S CONSEQUENCES

Innocent Indulgence Often Brings Trouble—F. C. Schramm Offers Means of Escape.

The consequences of violating physical law are often as unpleasant as the breaking of a moral rule. The innocent indulgence of over-eating brings consequences that amount to real suffering. Indigestion is not natural; it is not right; it should not be. F. C. Schramm offers a means of escape in Mi-o-na tablets that is simple and practical.

These simple tablets are composed of such valuable medicinal agents as bismuth subgallate, which is superior to all other remedies for stomach troubles, cerium oxalate, and tonics and correctives which promote the action of the digestive organs, strengthen the whole digestive tract and make it possible to eat what you like and when you like.

If you suffer with headaches, indigestion, flatulency, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, backache, or debility and weakness, begin the use of Mi-o-na at once. Just one tablet out of a 50-cent box before each meal will regain perfect health and strength.

Ask F. C. Schramm to show you the guarantee under which he sells Mi-o-na. The risk is all his.

AMUSEMENTS

"Dora Thorne" opened at the Grand theatre last evening for a half week's run. Miss Cuba Niblo appeared in the title role and delighted the large audience assembled. The play went well in every particular. There will be a special matinee this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Tonight the Orpheum enters upon its second week with an entirely new bill, the chief attraction being George Ade's sketch, "On His Uppers," which will be presented by Fred Lennox and company. A glance over the programme promises a decidedly stronger list of turns than those put on last week. There is good monologue and parody to be presented by Murray K. Hill and Lloyd Spencer, while Herbert's dogs, Esmeralda Sisters, Sheek and others and the kindroms make up the balance of the bill. The regular matinee goes tomorrow.

Any time you come across a bet that a better show than the "Thoroughbreds" has been seen at the Lyric theatre since the burlesque season opened, don't hesitate. To say that the show is worth seeing is putting it mildly. The company played to big houses Saturday and yesterday, and promise to fill the home of burlesque for the balance of the week's engagement.

"A Good Run For Your Money," and it's true enough, is the title of the first burlesque, while "The Union Men" gives an indication of what the second skit consists of. Between the two is an excellent vaudeville programme.

The costuming in "A Good Run For Your Money" is the most elaborate yet seen at the Lyric. The chorus appears in a number of good numbers, including "Lifting the Lid," "My Jap from Tokio," and "Senorita." While Weston makes a bit hit in "On the Banks of the Rhine."

"The Union Men" includes the opening chorus, "Union Maids," and a number of other good musical numbers. Throughout the costumes and scenes are given much attention.

In the vaudeville numbers are several one-act comedies, and the opening number, "Mile La Tosca," a contortionist, is a good stunt with which to head the olio.

"The Thoroughbreds" will be seen throughout the week, with a special matinee today.

GRAND OPERA COMING FEB. 1

Verdi's "Rigoletto" in the Repertory

—Alfred Best, Jr., to Have a Prominent Role.

Manager George D. Pyper of the Salt Lake theatre has just completed arrangements with Henry W. Savage for another Salt Lake opera season by the well known English Grand Opera company, which paid its first visit to Utah last season. Mr. Savage's representative is now in the city arranging preliminaries for the coming engagement, which will consist of four performances, beginning Feb. 1.

The new operas will include Verdi's "Rigoletto," together with Mr. Savage's elaborate revival of Gounod's "Faust." The performances will be arranged as follows: Thursday, Feb. 1, "Faust"; Friday, Feb. 2, "La Boheme"; Saturday matinee, Feb. 3, "Rigoletto"; Saturday evening Feb. 3, "Tannhauser."

Among the singers will be Joseph Sheehan, William Wegener, Winfred Goff, Arthur Deane, Harrison Bennett, Gertrude Rennyson and Rita Newman, who were with the company here last year. From the "Parsifal" company there will be the robust American tenor, Francis MacLennan, Claude Albright, the deep-voiced mezzo who alternated with Mme. Kirby-Lund as Kundry, and the two voices will include the coloratura soprano, Florence Easton from Covent Garden, Helen Petre, from the "Parsifal" company; Margaret Crawford, the contralto who has been singing two years in Germany, and Bertha Harmon, the well known soprano formerly with the Damrosch Opera company.

Alfred Best, Jr. of Salt Lake, who has advanced rapidly to the front since joining the Savage forces, will appear in the leading "role" of "Rigoletto," and perhaps in both "Tannhauser" and "Faust," where he will have the second tenor roles.

The orchestra of nearly fifty musicians this season will be under three conductors, and Manager Pyper will be compelled to remove three rows of chairs to make room for the musicians during the engagement.
